FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

14. Plaintiff incorporates herein by reference all of the above paragraphs of this Complaint as though fully set forth at length herein.

15. Defendants report consumer information about Plaintiff and other consumers through the sale of consumer reports (credit reports).

16. Defendants' credit reports generally contain the following information: (i) Header/Identifying Information: this section generally includes the consumer's name, current and prior addresses, date of birth, and phone numbers; (ii) Tradeline Information: this section pertains to consumer credit history, and includes the type of credit account, credit limit or loan amount, account balance, payment history, and status; (iii) Public Record Information: this section typically includes public record information, such as bankruptcy filings; and (iv) Credit Inquiries: this section lists every entity that has accessed the consumer's file through a "hard inquiry" (i.e., consumer-initiated activities, such as applications for credit cards, to rent an apartment, to open a deposit account, or for other services) or "soft inquiry" (i.e., user-initiated inquiries like prescreening).

17. Defendants gain access to consumer information from various sources, including furnishers who provide consumer information to Defendants, and information Defendants independently source themselves or through third party providers/vendors or repositories, including computerized reporting services like PACER.

18. The information reported by Defendants contribute to consumer creditworthiness, including their FICO Scores, which are calculated using information contained in Defendants' consumer credit reports.

19. The majority of financial services lenders (e.g., banks, creditors, lender) rely upon credit reports, FICO Scores and other proprietary third-party algorithms – “scoring” models – to interpret the information in a credit report.

20. These algorithms use variables or “attributes” derived from the credit report to calculate a “credit score,” which ultimately determines consumer creditworthiness.

21. FICO Scores factor the following: Payment history (35%); Amount of debt (30%); Length of credit history (15%); New credit (10%); and Credit mix (10%).

22. Payment history refers to whether a consumer has paid his or her bills in the past, and whether these payments have been timely, late or missed.

23. The more severe, recent, and frequent late payments are, the greater the harm to the FICO Score.

24. In factoring the severity of delinquent payments, a FICO Score considers how late the payment continues to be, how much is owed, how recently this occurred, and how many delinquent accounts exist. However, once a delinquent account has been remedied the longer the account stays current the more a consumer's FICO Score should increase.

25. Defendants obtained and reported Plaintiff's consumer bankruptcy information in both the Public Records section of her consumer credit report, as well as the individual account tradelines.

26. Defendants are well aware that the effect of a discharge Order in a Chapter 7 Bankruptcy is to discharge all statutorily dischargeable debts other than those that have been reaffirmed in a reaffirmation agreement or successfully challenged in an adversary proceeding.

27. Information regarding whether a debt has been reaffirmed or successfully challenged through an adversary proceeding is retrievable from the same sources Defendants obtain the bankruptcy case information, as well as from information provided to Defendants from furnishers of account/tradeline information.

28. Rather than following reasonable procedures to assure maximum possible accuracy, Defendants report information regarding pre-bankruptcy debts even if that information ignores or contradicts information already known by Defendants, information provided by furnishers of account/tradeline information, and/or information contained in public court records that Defendants have obtained through its independent efforts, or could easily obtain through reasonably available public records.

29. Defendants are on continued notice of its inadequate post-bankruptcy reporting procedures, including inaccurate balances, and account and payment statuses, through the thousands of lawsuits and FTC and Consumer Financial Protection Bureau complaints filed against it for its inaccurate reporting following a Chapter 7 discharge.

30. Plaintiff filed for a voluntary bankruptcy under Chapter 7 of Title 11 of the Bankruptcy Code, on or about August 28, 2019, in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Georgia (Atlanta), case number no. 19-63531-jwc.

31. There were no objections during Plaintiff's Chapter 7 Bankruptcy, or proceedings to declare any debt "nondischargeable" pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 523 et seq. There were also no requests for relief from the "automatic stay" codified at 11 U.S.C. §362 et seq. while the Plaintiff's Bankruptcy was pending to pursue the Plaintiff on any personal liability for listed debts.

32. Accordingly, Plaintiff was discharged from her Chapter 7 bankruptcy on or about January 10, 2020.

33. Upon information and belief following Plaintiff's Chapter 7 Bankruptcy, Defendants prepared one or more credit reports concerning Plaintiff. Defendants reported Plaintiff's Chapter 7 Bankruptcy case information, including the case number, court, filing date, and discharge.

34. Defendants also reported Plaintiff's credit history, including names of credit accounts, account numbers, account types, responsibility for the account (i.e., individual or joint accounts), the date the accounts were opened, status, and the date of the last status update.

35. For accounts included in Plaintiff's Chapter 7 Bankruptcy, including collection accounts, Defendants are generally required to report the status of these debts as discharged through bankruptcy, unless the furnishers provide information showing that a debt was excludable from discharge.

36. Nevertheless, Defendants continued to report one or more accounts inaccurately, with several late payments between the time the bankruptcy petition was filed and when Plaintiff received the discharge, instead of accurately reporting the status of this pre-petition debt as included in or discharged in Chapter 7 Bankruptcy with a $0 balance.

37. Experian was reporting her TD Auto Finance Account (the “Account”) no. 110174XXXX as opened on or about May 3, 2016, with a $9,408 Balance owed, a $361 Monthly Payment, and a Payment Status of “Current, was past due 30 days three times”.

38. Experian’s reporting of the Account was inaccurate.

39. Equifax was reporting the Account with a $9,408 Reported Balance, a $361 Scheduled Payment Amount, an Account Status of “Pays As Agreed”, and a 41% Debt-to-Credit Ratio.

40. Equifax’s reporting of the Account was inaccurate.

41. Trans Union reported the Account with a $9,408 Balance owed, and a $361 Monthly Payment, that 41% remained to be paid on the loan, and 30-day late payments in July and August 2019.

42. Trans Union’s reporting of the Account was inaccurate.

43. Defendants are inaccurately reporting that Plaintiff owes money on the discharged Account, and also report inaccurate statuses of this Account, thereby damaging her credit utilization.

44. Defendants inaccurately report the status of these debts, even though the debts are in fact discharged, Plaintiff is no longer personally liable for the debts, and Defendants have actual knowledge Plaintiff filed for and received a Chapter 7 Bankruptcy discharge. Defendants report the bankruptcy discharge in the public record section of Plaintiff's credit reports, as well as in other account/tradelines, which report the same types of pre-bankruptcy debts as being included in/discharged in bankruptcy with $0 balances.

45. Consequently, Plaintiff suffers damages, including credit harm, loss of credit opportunity, credit denials, and other financial harm. Plaintiff also suffers interference with daily activities, as well as emotional distress, including, without limitation, emotional and mental anguish, humiliation, stress, anger, frustration, shock, embarrassment, and anxiety.

46. Upon information and belief, Plaintiff applied for and was denied credit opportunities with Capital One Auto Finance, Global Lending Service, Best Buy, Apple, Amazon, and Barclays Bank Delaware due to Defendants' inaccurate reporting, which was published to Capital One Auto Finance, Global Lending Service, Best Buy, Apple, Amazon, and Barclays Bank Delaware in their review of Plaintiff's application.

COUNT I
Violations of the FCRA, 15 U.S.C. § 1681e(b)

47. Plaintiff incorporates herein by reference all of the above paragraphs of this Complaint as though fully set forth herein at length.

48. The United States Congress has found that the banking system is dependent upon fair and accurate credit reporting. Inaccurate credit reports directly impair the efficiency of the banking system, and unfair credit reporting methods undermine the public confidence, which is essential to the continual functioning of the banking system.

49. Congress enacted the FCRA to ensure fair and accurate reporting, promote efficiency in the banking system, and protect consumer privacy.

50. The FCRA seeks to ensure consumer reporting agencies exercise their grave responsibilities with fairness, impartiality, and a respect for the consumer's right to privacy because consumer reporting agencies have assumed such a vital role in assembling and evaluating consumer credit and other consumer information.

51. The FCRA requires consumer reporting agencies like Defendant to follow reasonable procedures to assure maximum possible accuracy of consumer information.

52. Defendants negligently and/or willfully violated 15 U.S.C. § 1681e(b) by failing to use reasonable procedures to assure maximum possible accuracy of information pertaining to discharged debts that arose prior to and were included in the consumer's bankruptcy.

53. Consequently, Defendants routinely report inaccurate, and materially misleading information about Plaintiff, without verifying the accuracy of this information, or updating this information as required by § 1681(e)(b) when Defendants possess information inconsistent with the reported information, and possesses information establishing that the reported information is in fact inaccurate.

54. Defendants knew or should have known of its obligations under the FCRA, especially pertaining to discharged debts. These obligations are well established by the plain language of the FCRA, in promulgations of the Federal Trade Commission, well-established case law, and in prior cases involving Defendants from which Defendants are on notice of their unreasonable procedures concerning the reporting of discharged debts.

55. Defendants have obtained or has available substantial written materials that apprised Defendants of duties and obligations mandated by the FCRA, including where consumers file for Chapter 7 Bankruptcy.

56. Despite knowledge of these legal obligations, Defendants acted willfully in consciously breaching known duties and deprived Plaintiff of her rights under the FCRA.

57. Defendants violated 15 U.S.C. § 1681e(b) by failing to use reasonable procedures to ensure maximum possible accuracy of Plaintiff's consumer disclosure.

58. Defendants possess information from which Defendants should know the reported information is inaccurate, as Defendants include the date the consumer filed bankruptcy, whether the consumer obtained a bankruptcy discharge, as well as the date the inaccurate tradeline account/debt arose or was otherwise opened by the consumer.

59. Defendants are also on notice from other account tradelines reported by Defendants that indicate those accounts were included in/discharged in bankruptcy.

60. In this case, the inaccurately reported debts pertain to TD Auto Finance debts that Defendants knew are several years old, and which predated Plaintiff's Chapter 7 Bankruptcy.

61. Alternatively, Defendants were negligent, entitling Plaintiff to recover damages pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1681o.

62. Defendants are a direct and proximate cause, as well as a substantial factor in causing actual damages and harm to Plaintiff, including, but not limited to, credit denials, embarrassment, anguish, and emotional and mental pain.

63. Consequently, Defendants are liable for actual and statutory damages, punitive damages, attorneys' fees, costs, as well as other such relief permitted by 15 U.S.C. § 1681 et seq.

64. Consequently, Plaintiff suffers damages, including credit harm, loss of credit opportunity, credit denials, and other financial harm. Plaintiff also suffers interference with daily activities, as well as emotional distress, including, without limitation, emotional and mental anguish, humiliation, stress, anger, frustration, shock, embarrassment, and anxiety.

65. Defendants are a direct and proximate cause, as well as a substantial factor in causing damages and harm to Plaintiff. Consequently, the Defendants are liable for actual and statutory damages, punitive damages, attorneys' fees, costs, as well as other such relief permitted by 15 U.S.C. § 1681 et seq.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff Ajimary Njie respectfully requests judgment be entered against Defendants for the following:

- A. Declaratory judgment that Defendant violated the FCRA;
- B. Actual damages pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1681n(a)(1) or § 1681o(a)(1);
- C. Statutory damages of $1,000.00 pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1681n(a)(1);
- D. Punitive damages pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1681n(a)(2);
